BE PREPARED FOR P/T CONFERENCES

To get the most out of your next parent-teacher conference, try these tips from Kathy Jenkins, founder of the Organizing Tutor, a Mechanicsville, VA.-based student organizing service.

Be prompt - Be sure to arrive on time for your conference.

Make a list - Jot down questions or areas of concern ahead of time and bring them to the meeting. (And be sure to take notes during the conference).

Review your child's grades - Overall grades are important, but individual test and quiz scores offer clues to your child's trouble spots. (Example: Zeroes for homework may mean that your child struggles with organization.)

Get your child's perspective - Ask your child "What do you think your teacher will bring to my attention?" If his/her prediction is correct, everyone is on the same page. If the teacher says something different, this may be an issue to address.

Let the teacher take the lead - Listen and learn from the person spending many hours a day with your child. "Remember, both of you have the same goal." Jenkins says.

"You want your child to succeed."

BOOKFAIR INFORMATION

We are still in need of volunteers to help with the bookfair. If you are interested in helping, please email Angela Kuchnicki at:

apeterson@altonschools.org

Preview Day is November 10th

Bookfair will be open November 14th to the 18th

We also hope to have the bookfair open during parent/teacher conferences if we have enough parent volunteers.
